

On Monday and yesterday we published the first two articles of a series of six by Edwin Shanke of the Associated Press discussing how the average Englishman is affected by the Labor government's nationalization of industry.

The first article reported that Britishers find electricity, coal and gas more expensive under government ownership than when privately owned.

In the second article—yesterday—Mr. Shanke discussed the Labor government's unhappy discovery that its nationalized rail system is losing millions of dollars a year and going still deeper in the red.

I presume a privately owned newspaper—for all American newspapers are privately owned—might be suspected of having these facts dug up and then publishing them as propaganda matter favorable to the free enterprise system.

Do you know any good reason why I should deny the charge?

And strictly speaking, is it right to call anything "propaganda" that reports true facts on matters that concern every man, woman and child in the nation—matters such as the cost of light and fuel and transportation?

Follow me for a moment while I give you a little explanation of the historical position that the British Laborites have taken to reduce the Socialists' claims when they argue that government ownership and operation of all human activities is good for the people—and, in fact, is what the people want.

Absolute Socialism isn't new—actually it's the oldest form of government known to men. In ancient days there was a king with absolute power. He owned all property, and controlled his subjects' every move.

Socialism for the moment may be popular, but that doesn't mean the people aren't making a mistake. Kings didn't come to power of their own accord. They were elevated to tyranny by a worshipping public—swept away by enthusiasm for a great warrior, or a good and just man—who later was succeeded by a worthless descendant "kings."

In all things we reach final judgment on the basis of what time discloses. Time turned thumbs down on the proposition that the centralization of all ownership and control, in government, would bring greater prosperity and happiness to the people. It was turned down as an experiment under kings—and there's no reason to believe the eventual result will be any different when you substitute the so-called "people's choice" of a Labor government for the word "king."

The disclosure that the cost of living when Britain's Labor government was elected was reduced is being raised rather than lowered is direct evidence that political logic travels in a circle.

It starts with absolute power under a king, and then comes back to the point of beginning... under an assumed name.

Surplus Food Available to Hempstead

Little Rock Jan. 19 —(AP)— Surplus foodstuffs are going to needy farm families in the 43 Arkansas counties designated as agriculture disaster areas.

McMath announced late yesterday that Secretary of Agriculture Brannan has approved his request that surplus be used for such relief. Distribution already has begun.

Food being distributed are now being limited to condensed milk, dried eggs and potatoes. The first truckload went to Jefferson county.

Other counties designated as disaster areas include: Arkansas, Hempstead, Miller, Phillips, Pula, Clark, Crawford, Crittenden, Hempstead, Miller, Phillips, Pula, Clark, Crawford, Crittenden, and St. Francis.

McMath said counties communities or local organizations would have to pay transportation costs of the foodstuffs, to be shipped from warehouses in Little Rock.

The program is being directed by Mrs. Henry Bethell state welfare director, and State purchasing Agent Carl Parker.

County welfare directors will certify to county judges the names of families eligible for assistance.

County judges will requisition the supplies from the warehouses.

Disaster areas are those in which boll weevil damage or weather drastically reduced the 1949 cotton crop.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The surplus foods will be limited to families of (1) farm day laborers who have no available and small renters who will not be employed; (2) sharecroppers and small renters who will not be able to get a crop for 1950 and who have no available employment.

Sixteen counties were designated as disaster areas by the agriculture department yesterday, making some farmers living in them eligible to borrow money from the farmers home administration.

State FFA Director J. V. Highfill said four of the counties were classified as total disaster areas. They are Grant, Hot Spring, Logan and Crawford counties.

The other 12 he said are eligible for benefits in some sections. These are Calhoun Clay, Cleveland, Crittenden, Mississippi, Monroe, Ouachita, Poinsett, Randolph and St. Francis.

Ammunition Seized, 3 Held for Questioning in Daring Million Dollar Robbery

Boston, Jan. 19 —(AP)— Police seized 1,000 rounds of ammunition and picked up three men for questioning on an ex-convict's telephone tip that funds stolen in Boston's million dollar robbery had been cached in a house near the scene of the holdup.

Police raided the empty house in the north end shortly after Police Captain John D. Ahearn received the telephone call from Newark, N. J., from a man who identified himself as the driver of the escape car used in the robbery.

They found the four boxes of ammunition and a .38 calibre revolver in the house the same type weapon used by the gunmen in the holdup.

The three men—all ex-convicts—were taken for questioning on the tip which Ahearn said came from Jackie Horrigan. Horrigan was picked up by Newark police.

Ahearn said he doubted Horrigan's story, but added that he wasn't "passing up anything."

He said some of the information given by the tipster "checked with certain angles of the robbery and some didn't." He could have got a lot of it from the newspapers, the police captain said.

Ahearn quoted Horrigan as saying in the collect call from Newark that eight men participated in the robbery. Two were with him in Newark, he said, and the other five were in the house.

The police captain said the man named all those he claimed took part in the holdup of the vault of an armed car company.

The man said that the holdup had been planned for seven months and that a pass key taken from an impression of one held by a former employee was used to open doors in the big garage housing the vaults.

Newark police arrested Horrigan in a tavern shortly after he had put in the collect call to Ahearn.

He was held in Newark pending arrival of FBI agents to question him. He refused to give any details to Newark police except saying he was involved in the robbery.

Newark police doubted the man had any connection with the holdup but they said "we can't afford to take chances in a thing like this."

Three other former convicts also are held for questioning in the case.

Police Superintendent Edward W. Fallon frankly admitted top-notch investigators directing the multipronged probe lacked a single definite lead after running down scores of phony tips.

He clung to hope, however, that science may spring a trap on the gunmen who calmly seized a million and a half dollars—a million in cash—at the vaulted garage of Brink's, Inc., Armored Transportation company.

Telephone Deadlock Looks Hopeless

St. Louis, Jan. 19 —(AP)—Federal Conciliator A. E. Johnson said yesterday he will try again tomorrow to break the deadlock in the contract dispute between Southern Bell Telephone Co. and its 50,000 workers.

He admitted, however, that he isn't too hopeful.

Johnson said he would talk to each side individually and try to get them to resume negotiations, which broke off when the company rejected a union demand for a pay raise.

The union, division 20 of the CIO Communications Workers, threatened to strike but later agreed to postpone indefinitely a walkout in Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma and part of Illinois.

Missouri Pacific to Purchase 77 New Diesels

St. Louis, Jan. 19 —(AP)— The Missouri Pacific railroad has ordered 77 new diesel locomotive units costing more than $11,000,000—the largest single order of diesels ever placed by the line.

Delivery of some is scheduled for late March.

The purchase will increase the road's fleet to 274, enabling the line to dieselize its White river and northern Kansas divisions and a large part of the southern Kansas division. This includes removal of coal chutes, water towers and similar equipment.

Announcement of the plans was made by P. J. Neff, the road's chief executive officer.

Red Front in Move to Oust FBI's Hoover

By LYLE C. WILSON

Washington, Jan. 19 —(UP)—The campaign to drive FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover from office begins in earnest today under auspices of an organization of lawyers officially tabbed as a Communist front.

The National Lawyers Guild has called a press conference here at 2 p. m. EST. It is understood the guild will make public then a demand to President Truman for an investigation of the FBI.

The guild seeks to shake public confidence in the FBI. But the long-haul objective is to get Hoover out of there.

A demand that congress investigate the "truth or falsity" of the charges against the guild was made last night by Rep. Richard M. Nixon (R-Cal.), a member of the house committee investigating un-American activities.

Guild president, Clifford J. Durr, a former member of the federal communications commission, accused Nixon of trying to distract attention from today's announcement. He conceded the guild's membership may include some Communists but hotly denied that it is Communist dominated.

"Nixon said his committee should look into charges that the organization has been used 'as a transmission belt for the Communist party'."

New York council investigating the municipal civil service commission said:

"The late Frank P. Walsh comptroller Joseph D. McGoldrick, Judge Ferdinand Pecora, Adolph Berle, Assistant Secretary of State, Nathan Margold, solicitor of the interior department, and others have resigned from the organization (the guild) on the ground that it is Communist-dominated."

In September, 1939, before the house committee Earl Browder testified that the National Lawyers guild was one of the Communist party's "transmission belts" in this country. Browder at one time was head man of the Communist party in the United States.

At a meeting sponsored by the guild in New York last autumn it was agreed to open up against Hoover with a demand that President Truman name a "citizens committee" to investigate the FBI.

The decision to base the attack on Hoover on an incident during which the presiding judge compelled the FBI to produce its files in the case. The files were produced over urgent FBI protests.

Roland E. Gove, 20-year-old Herkimer, Mass., youth who was convicted by jury Monday for the fatal shooting of Matthew Reynolds, Negro resident of Shepard, was formally sentenced to life imprisonment in Hempstead Circuit Court here this morning by Judge Dexter Bush.

Gove seemingly remained unperturbed when the sentence was pronounced. He remained exceptionally calm throughout the day long trial Monday, he probably will be removed to the Arkansas State Penitentiary sometime today, the Sheriff's Department indicated.

Oleo Tax Repeal Victory for Southerners

Washington, Jan. 19 —(AP)— A smashing senate vote of 58 to 16 brought almost to a complete end today the long fight to repeal federal taxes on oleomargarine.

Nothing remains now except to adjust quite similar senate house bills and for President Truman to sign the final repeal version into law.

Dairy state senators lost one point after another in their senate battle to protect butter from what they called unfair competition by an imitation.

It was a victory for southern senators and others who said a wholesome food has too long been unjustly taxed, and that housewives should have easy access to the cheaper table spread.

The net result of the senate voting which wound up with the 58-16 decision for repeal last night, is:

An end, effective July 1, to the tax of 10 cents a pound on yellow oleomargarine and of one-quarter cent a pound on the uncolored variety.

Federal taxes on retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers, ranging from $6 to $600 a year, also would be wiped out.

To prevent the passing off of oleomargarine as butter, public eating places serving oleomargarine would have to so inform their customers by posters, and by labeling or serving it in a triangular shape. Also retail packages of yellow margarine would have to be in a triangular shape.

Passage of the oleomargarine tax repealer delayed, but did not stop, a drive for a multi-million dollar slash in excise taxes generally.

As soon as the vote was taken, the senate voted to take up next a measure to amend the Hatch "can politics" act.

It would permit the civil service commission to impose lesser penalties than dismissal on federal employees who engage in political activities in violation of the Hatch act.

Senator Cain (R-Wash.) moved to set aside that bill and take up instead a bill that would cut excise taxes back to 1942 levels on such items as jewelry, furs, luggage, cosmetics, admissions, transportation tickets and telephone bills.

Missouri May Get Free by Tomorrow

Norfolk, Va. Jan. 19 —(AP)— The 4500-ton battleship Missouri will remain stuck in the mud of Chesapeake bay until tomorrow at the latest, according to latest navy plans.

After postponing another effort to pry loose the nation's only active service battleship until tomorrow the navy last night sent divers below the water to blow mud and sand from about the ship's propellers with two high-pressure water hoses.

The divers went below with a two-fold purpose to loosen the sand and to determine the condition of the propellers. A navy spokesman said the navy also continued to dredge a big trench from the main ship channel to the "Mighty Mo's" position a half mile north.

Puppet Show Takes World of Television by Storm and Fans Love the Former Teacher

By HAL BOYLE

New York —(AP)— The Alice in Wonderland of our times is a former Iowa schoolteacher named Fran Allison.

She is the human star of an NBC-TV puppet show called "Kukla, Fran and Ollie" and it has taken the television world by storm.

It began as a children's show but now it is also a rage among adults — from truck drivers to literary sophisticates — in some 54 cities.

She jokes and sings with the two major puppets — Kukla a red-nosed, balding good-hearted little weary wart and Ollie a one-toothed sentimental dragon who wants to be a big shot.

Other puppets include Beulah Witch, Ophelia Ooglespuss, a retired opera singer and Clairia Coo a flighty cuckoo who used to be timekeeper in Sant Claus' North Pole factory but flew to Chicago and developed a southern accent.

Unseen behind the small stage is the puppet manipulator Burr Tillstrom, a 32-year-old genius of fantasy. So far he has sung and talked for eight puppet characters.

He expects to create more if he doesn't run out of voices.

Through his puppets he and Fran have created a make-believe world of their own of gentle humor and small predicaments.

Most of the troubles come from Ollie's wild spendthrift gestures and his mad courtship of Clara Coo Coo. Fran and Kukla usually manage to bail him out.

But the thing that puts the program across is the way Fran treats the puppets as real people. They come alive.

I talked to her the other day during her recent trip to New York — the program originates

Hydrogen Bomb May Be Ordered by Truman

Washington, Jan. 19 —(AP)— President Truman today left wide open the possibility that he will order production of a hydrogen super-bomb.

With the United States reported to be going ahead full blast on production, Mr. Truman was asked at his news conference:

"Do you have under consideration production of a hydrogen bomb?"

The President replied that he could not comment on that.

Mr. Truman also said inquirers that he is not considering direct negotiations with the Russians on the hydrogen bomb.

The phrase "direct negotiations" was the one used by the questioner.

In giving a negative reply Mr. Truman did not rule out the possibility of some less immediate approach to the Russians.

For example, negotiations within the United Nations were not flatly ruled out.

The chief executive was asked "has David Lillenthal offered to go to Russia?"

Mr. Truman said flatly that he has not.

Lillenthal is the retiring chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. There have been rumors so far without substantiation from Lillenthal or the President, that the AEC chairman is opposed to development of a hydrogen bomb.

Unless the United States first makes a new effort to work out an international atomic energy agreement with the Russians.

In addition there have been reports that Lillenthal offered to go to Moscow for the President on such a mission. This Mr. Truman flatly denied.

Lillenthal is scheduled to leave his AEC job Feb. 15. The President said today that when he decides on a successor he will announce it.

At least some top officials in the Truman administration believe that the bomb will eventually go into production. President Truman himself will presumably make the final decision, one way or the other.

The government's present policy on the hydrogen bomb, estimated at 1,000 tons as powerful as atomic bombs now being made, calls for the assembling of all possible facts. On the basis of these facts the final decision probably will be made in a few weeks.

Lewis Girds for New Injunction Fight Jan. 26

Washington, Jan. 19 —(AP)— Mine Leader John L. Lewis is in for a new court injunction battle with the government.

This one, started by general Counsel Robert Denham of the national labor relations board yesterday, seeks to stop Lewis' current three-day week and the full strikes prevailing in some areas of the coal fields.

Richmond B. Keach set Denham's injunction plea for Jan. 26. Meantime, with his miners to work or strike next week, Lewis kept his plans to himself.

About 80,000 miners in the states stayed away from the pit entirely this week, refusing to work even the three days Lewis has ordered for the industry as a whole.

This was the third straight week in which key groups of miners have quit work completely.

Lewis has mildly suggested that the completely idle coal mines turn to their jobs, suggesting many ignored. This may become the basis for a Lewis argument against the Denham court plea.

That he had already asked the miners to return to work, but didn't as a protest against lack of a work contract.

Some lawmakers, including Senator Taft (R-Ohio) who have been urging President Truman to take action under the Taft-Hartley law to end the three-day week because of the coal, expressed doubt that Denham can do the same thing under another section of the labor law.

Taft said he doesn't think congress intended to give anyone except the President the power to force men to go back to work out a contract. He said Denham might get an injunction to require Lewis to bargain with coal operators in good faith and stop demanding what they call illegal contracting terms.

"But I can't see that valid and effective means of getting production of coal," Taft said, urged again that Mr. Truman declare a national emergency and seek the emergency powers.

Previous court actions of this kind have resulted in heavy fines and the union for not complying with injunctions.

State Floods Take Turn for Worse

Little Rock, Jan. 19 (AP)—Worsened flood conditions and the second ice storm of the year gave weather-weary Arkansians more misery today.

The latest ice storm isn't as general as the one which blanketed the state two weeks ago, but it hit where it hurt most in flood-harassed east Arkansas.

Ordered action last night by Governor McNab, the Arkansas National Guard helped the coast guard evacuate residents and livestock from thousands of acres of inundated lowlands along the St. Francis river east of Wynne, Cross county. Evacuations were being made by coast guard cutters and the guard's amphibious trucks under adverse conditions brought on by a heavy sleet and freezing rainstorm last night.

A frost coating also added to the discomfort of flood victims in the Paragould area, on the St. Francis.

Still rising late last night, the St. Francis had overflowed an area about nine miles long and up to three miles wide east of Wynne, the national guard there reported.

More evacuations also were made from the Cache, Black and White river bottoms. Backwaters lapped at the tops of houses in the White river bottoms between Bradford and Newport.

Fearing there might be some casualties, Guard Capt. Felix G. Smith said many families in the Wynne area spent the night crowded on small but high old Indian mounds and that others stood on furniture in their homes as the water rose above the floor level.

Temperatures dropped to sub-freezing levels in the northern portions of the state last night.

Western ambassadors approached Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in Moscow last night in an attempt to iron out differences over an Austrian independence treaty. East-West differences have bogged down a decision on the treaty for three years. This was the first direct approach to the Kremlin by the west since the moves to end the Berlin blockade.

The Russians have refused to continue discussions until Austria pays for Soviet supplies sent during the early days of the occupation. The Western powers — the United States, Britain, and France — say this is only a Russian excuse to stall the treaty.

In London today, the British foreign office said Russia gave an "unsatisfactory and disappointing" reply to the ambassadors' approach.

Mr. Gromyko could give none of the assurances asked by the three ambassadors, the British foreign office spokesman said.

Deputy foreign ministers of the four powers are expected to meet again in London tomorrow to discuss the treaty.

BRUSH-UP FOR POPE'S TRAIN—Workmen in Rome clean and polish an elaborate coach of the historic Papal train, which may soon be used for the first time by Pope Pius XII. Fine paintings, carvings of Biblical subjects and the Papal seal are part of the decoration. The only Pope to use this train—and the last one to take a train ride—was Pope Pius IX in 1859. The Papal train is being redecorated by the Italian government.

I Love My Doctor

By Evelyn Barkin

My business did not end with law school either. First, there was our annual anniversary which came next.

"A whole year!" we would exclaim whenever there was a respectful pause during the day.

"Incredible!"

John bought me a complete set of legal stationery, beautifully engraved with "Counselor-at-Law."

"That's me!" I said happily, running my finger excitedly over the raised lettering and feeling more convinced and proud than when the Dean had given me my diploma.

I gave John a leather wallet (the stockbroker's best), as a symbol of our increased prosperity; and that night we had a big party at home to commemorate what Bob in his initial toast called, "The founding of the B. Republic."

"Dynasty would be more like it," I giggled.

There was a moment's silence for station identification.

"Well, what do you know!" gasped Bob.

"A baby!" exclaimed Agnes, as if she were solving a cross-word puzzle, and had just hit the missing four-letter key word, top row across.

"Congratulations!" said Gert Shaw, for once too started for profanity.

Everyone seemed strangely touched, as if I had announced that John and I were going to try to swim the English Channel.

"We've got news, too," Bob said, after the first wave of well-wishing.

"Yes," said Agnes, "we're getting married at Christmas, and you'll all be invited."

There was another hubbub for this in which I worried about how I would attend at that late date.

"Yes, sir," said Bob importantly. "It worked out fine for John not to wait until he was completely finished at the hospital, so we're doing it now."

"What a party!" said John, when the last guest left.

"Nice," I agreed. "Anyway, the news is out now, and tomorrow, I'll tell my mother."

This was a heroic job, and I had to keep twisting my wedding ring on my finger to convince myself that everything was proper. My mother, when she heard me out, was torn between the inherent pleasure of a prospective grandmother, and the apparent worry and consequent displeasure of a mother.

But she was excited too, and in a few days had circulated the news all over town like a special edition of a newspaper.

"Why don't you take some law work?" John asked. My diploma was framed and hanging in his office, along with the enlarged photograph of me in full graduation regalia, which he fondly called "Mother and Child."

"It'll do you good to keep busy, especially with school behind you," he added. "I've always noticed that the women who hold on to a job as long as possible have the least complaints and are the happiest."

"I have got my pretty stationery," I said thoughtfully, looking upon this equipment of my trade like feathers to a fan dancer. "But I don't have clients."

"That's easy," John replied, and I knew he had already gone over the matter in his own mind. "A number of patients have noticed your diploma, and when I tell them you're a lawyer, they ask if you'd handle something for them. If you're willing..."

The very next day, a Mrs. Fritchett came in with her 8-year-old son Percival, demanding, to see me.

"I've got rights," she bellowed before I could even question her. "Imagine a kid-and-run driver knocking down my Percival! I'll sue him! I got his license number all right, before I picked Percy up. My poor Percy!"

While she was blowing her nose, I started on Percy. He was playing ball he told me only partially coherent, and he ran into the gutter after his ball, when the car came.

"Almost killed him," Mrs. Fritchett wailed at this point. "Did it hit you?" I asked the surprisingly healthy looking child, who resembled a fullback for Notre Dame rather than an accident victim.

"Almost," said Percy importantly. "Fool!" shouted Mrs. Fritchett clapping him over the head, with her handbag. "I told you it hit you hard on your head!"

"This is almost as bad as starting a middle school," I told John that night. "Only, thank heaven, we don't have to count on it for our living expenses, or else it might not be so easy to turn down those phonies."

But the next case that I got was a wonderful, real taste of unadulterated law.

A Mrs. Slater, 50, gray haired, and respectable, came in to see John, practically in nervous collapse. It appeared that her husband had had her arrested for stealing some of his personal property, and the case was coming up next week.

"He said he would get even with me for leaving him," she sobbed, looking as much like a thief as Sister Kenny or a Salvation Army colonel. "Oh, doctor, what will I do?"

John was diplomatic. "Have you a lawyer?" he asked.

"No," she answered, "but Mrs. Ryan told me that your wife was an attorney. I can't pay much, but would she take the case for me?"

Would I? At the exact moment of acceptance, I was the spirit of Justice herself, scales, blindfold, and all; and Mrs. Slater went home with the happy assurance that the new technology wizard none other than the famous Mrs. B. herself, would rescue her from the dragons at the hearing next week. Then I sat down and tried

Doctors Agree to Back Up Mercy Slayer

By LEO TURNER

New York Jan. 18 — (AP)—A Park avenue physician said today he occasionally provided incurable patients suffering intense pain with large supplies of morphine, advising them that "if you take the whole bottle you might not wake up."

Dr. A. L. Goldwater said he left the morphine doses handy at the bedside of certain patients many times in "my 53 years of practice."

The elderly doctor elaborated on statements which he made yesterday at the annual meeting of the Euthanasia Society of America in which he defended the action of Dr. Hermann N. Sander of Manchester, N. H., who has been indicted for murder in the mercy killing of a woman cancer patient.

"I felt I was doing the humane thing," Goldwater said, mentioning specifically the case of a woman cancer patient, which he said was "similar" to the case of Dr. Sander.

"If that be murder, make the most of it," Goldwater said at the meeting of the Euthanasia society. He said in making overdoses of morphine available to patients, he was only doing what other physicians did.

The society pledged its support of Dr. Sander and Carol Paight of Stamford, Conn., who is facing a second-degree murder trial on charges of shooting her cancer-ridden father as he lay in a hospital bed.

Goldwater said that in treating incurable cases where the patient was near death he would have a week's supply of morphine tablets beside the patient's bed.

He said he would tell the patient that "if you take one tablet it will reduce the pain and two will put you to sleep, and if you take the whole bottle you won't wake up."

Paasikivi Is Renamed in Finland

Helsinki inland, Jan. 18 — (AP)—President Juho Paasikivi, target of Moscow ire has won reelection returns from Finland's national poll showed today, but the communists registered a strong gain.

The communist-led people's Democrats rolled up a total of 21.5 per cent of the popular vote for presidential elections as against 19 per cent in the parliamentary elections of 1948. This placed them second only to the ruling Social Democrats in individual party strength.

The right wing conservatives also gained sharply, leading observers to predict that Premier Karl-August Fagerholm's government would be forced to step aside next March in favor of a coalition.

Despite the gains registered by the communist-dominated party it was considered highly unlikely they would be invited into a coalition. Cooperation between them and a conservative-social Democratic group is regarded here as impossible, and only a radical change in Finland's foreign relations could give the communists any say in government matters.

The indications are that Finland long under Moscow pressure because she represents a break in the ring of communist governments bordering Russia on the West, will have a coalition of Conservatives Social Democrats and Liberals.

The parliamentary standing of the respective parties remains unchanged by the voting which was for a presidential electoral assembly, but the results are certain to have an effect upon composition of a new government when the present cabinet resigns according to custom at the beginning of the new presidential term March 1.

Political observers pointed out the communist gains were in the city areas, where the strong Agrarian party lost ground. They attributed this to unemployment in those areas and dissatisfaction with the government's handling of the wages problem. The trade union federation had demanded a 10 per cent general increase and a government proposal calls for a 7.5 per cent increase.

Mother Regains Sanity, Freed for Slaying Father

Newark, N. J., Jan. 17 — (AP)—State psychiatrists he freed, 23-year-old mother has come out of a long, horrible dream caused by the birth of her daughter.

While still in that dream world, called a post partum (after child-birth) psychosis, Mrs. Jacqueline Marie Steinhauser was accused of killing her father by hacking him 51 times with a boy scout hatchet.

Yesterday Essex County Judge Joseph E. Conlon set aside a murder indictment against Mrs. Steinhauser on the advice of six psychiatrists and Assistant County Prosecutor Edward Gaulkin.

Here Is Another Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Were Wrong!

Ever since the anti-trust lawyers filed their suit to put A&P out of business, they have been making, in the newspapers and over the radio, various "allegations" about how they think this company does business.

Please remember that "allegations" are charges that have not been proved.

In this case they will be disproved.

There have been times in the past when the anti-trust lawyers made very damaging "allegations" about this company, that the courts eventually decided were utterly without foundation.

In our last advertisement we told you about the time the anti-trust lawyers charged that A&P, two other food chains and two labor unions conspired to fix the price of bread in Washington, D. C.

And yet, when this case came to trial, it was revealed that the defendants were actually selling bread cheaper than most other stores in Washington, and that there was absolutely no evidence that they had ever engaged in any such "alleged" conspiracy.

That was the time Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty."

It was the time he said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If you were to show this record to any experienced trial lawyer in the world, he would tell you that there was not any evidence at all!"

"Honestly, I have never in my over forty years' experience seen tried a case that was as absolutely devoid of evidence as this. That is the honest truth. I have never seen one like it."

But this was not the only time that the anti-trust lawyers made such serious "allegations" against A&P which were false.

Again, and still again, they brought cases against A&P and suffered defeat.

As we have said, we think you are entitled to know about these other cases. And now, we are going to tell you about the second time the anti-trust lawyers were wrong.

The North Carolina Potato Case

In December, 1941, the anti-trust lawyers brought a criminal suit in Wilson, North Carolina.

They charged that A&P's fresh fruit and vegetable buying subsidiary, and other good American citizens, had conspired to fix and depress prices paid farmers for potatoes in North Carolina, Virginia and Maryland.

Can anyone imagine any charge calculated to be more damaging to a retail grocery business that must rely on farmers, day after day, for the food we distribute to our customers?

In this case the anti-trust lawyers gave a story to the newspapers, telling millions of farmers that we were the kind of people who would force their prices down, deprive them of a decent income, and lower their families' living standard.

These charges were false.

They made these charges despite the fact that it has always been A&P's policy to pay our farm suppliers fair market prices for all produce; to aid agriculture through better distribution of its products; to narrow the spread between farm and retail prices; and to help farmers build better markets for their products.

That is why many thousands of farmers all over the country are now coming to our support.

When the case finally came to trial, the anti-trust lawyers put on as their first witness a potato expert of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This expert, who was the anti-trust lawyers' own witness, testified that contrary to the anti-trust lawyers' "allegations," the defendants made every effort to help the Department of Agriculture in its efforts to aid the potato farmer in better marketing of his products and in getting a better price for his products.

When the anti-trust lawyers had put in their evidence and argued their case, Federal Judge C. C. Wyche directed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty."

Judge Wyche said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"I have studied this case from the very outset. In my opinion there is no testimony produced from which it can reasonably be inferred that the defendants entered into a combination to depress or lower the price of potatoes."

"I might say that I never tried a case in my life where a greater effort, more work, more investigation had been done, combing almost with a fine-tooth comb to gather evidence, as was done in this case."

"But, as was said a long time ago, you can't make brick without straw, and you can't make a case without facts."

So, here was a case in which the anti-trust lawyers made seriously damaging charges against A&P in which the Judge decided that there were no facts to support those charges.

That is why we say the anti-trust lawyers can be wrong and have been wrong.

That is why we say that they are wrong again, just as they were wrong in the Washington bread case and the North Carolina potato case.

We are going to show the American people that the suit to destroy A&P is really a suit against efficiency and against real competition.

The real question involved in this suit is whether businessmen are going to be encouraged to do a better and more efficient job; or whether we are going to let the anti-trust lawyers in Washington blow the whistle on anybody who gets big by giving the people more for their money.

No one can make us believe that it is a crime to try to sell the best quality food at the lowest possible price.

Ten Reasons WHY YOUR BEST BUY IS NATURAL CHILEAN NITRATE

1. Natural. Chilean Nitrate is the only natural nitrate in the world.
2. Nitrate Nitrogen. The nitrogen is 100 per cent nitrate.
3. Sodium. Chilean Nitrate contains sodium equivalent to about 35% sodium oxide (Na₂O). This acts like potash (K₂O) and helps to make the phosphate in the soil more available.
4. Iodine. Chilean Nitrate contains iodine to help meet the needs of plants, animals, and human beings.
5. Other Plant Food Elements. Chilean Nitrate contains small quantities of other elements that contribute to strong, healthy plant growth, such as manganese, potassium, magnesium, boron, calcium, iron, sulphur, copper and zinc.
6. Ideal Condition. Chilean Nitrate comes in free-flowing pellets—easy to handle and to apply in any distributor.
7. Quick Acting. Chilean Nitrate is immediately and completely available.
8. Anti-Acid. Chilean Nitrate helps keep the soil sweet.
9. Time-Tested. Chilean Nitrate has been proved by more than 100 years of research and practical farm experience.
10. Doubly Profitable—Economical. Chilean Nitrate improves the quality of crops as well as the yield. Consistently excellent effect of heavy applications year after year upon crop and soil alike makes it an outstandingly profitable and economical nitrate for every need and purpose.

"THEY'S ONLY ONE NATCHEL SODA!"

"Just being natchel makes Chilean soda different. Lot of farmers says it's because the nitrogen is all nitrate, and that's how plants like it best. Lot of 'em figure the soda and all the other minerals in it help make good, strong stands, too."
